During the 1985 assessment year four man days labor was performed on the claim. This consisted of maintenance drainage excavation and excoavation in the primary lower tunnel to get material for assay. The labor was performed by Russell A. Niblock and Ted R. Martin.

With labor estimated at $60.00 per man day this indicates $240.00 excludng indirect costs such as travel, resurvey and reposting.

It is planned to substantially increase mining activities after the U.S. Forest Service Boulder Creek timber sale and road are completed. The road, as located, crosses the upper part of the claim and will provide excellent access with economical advantages.
