

Bonds so subject to redemption divided by the number of interest payment dates (including interest payment dates prior to October 1, 1962) subsequent to the date on which such Certificate of Gas Supply is filed to and including the second interest payment date immediately preceding the terminal date, such principal amount of Bonds to be redeemed on each sinking fund redemption date as so determined being allocated proportionately, as nearly as may be in multiples of $1,000, so that the aggregate principal amount of the Bonds so subject to redemption shall be redeemed not later than the second interest payment date immediately preceding the terminal date. All Bonds of the 1975 Series not so subject to redemption shall be redeemed on the interest payment date immediately preceding the terminal date at the principal amount thereof together with accrued interest to the redemption date. Any such operation of the sinking fund (including the redemption of Bonds of the 1975 Series pursuant to the preceding sentence) shall be deemed for the purposes of this §3.09 to be a revision of the schedule of sinking fund redemptions.

If any Certificate of Gas Supply filed in 1962 or in any year thereafter shall show that the date of exhaustion of available gas supply is a date earlier than November 1, 1977, or that the date of exhaustion of firm gas supply is a date earlier than November 1, 1975, the aggregate principal amount of Bonds of the 1975 Series which are scheduled as determined in §3.08 to be redeemed subsequent to the date such Certificate is filed and up to and including the second sinking fund redemption date immediately preceding the terminal date shall be increased by an amount equal to the aggregate principal amount of Bonds of the 1975 Series which are scheduled to be redeemed on and after the sinking fund payment date immediately preceding the terminal date. The aggregate increase as so determined shall be allocated proportionately, as nearly as may be in multiples of $1,000, to the principal amounts scheduled to be redeemed on the respective sinking fund redemption dates which follow the date of filing such Certificate up to and including the second sinking fund redemption date immediately preceding the terminal date. All Bonds of the 1975 Series not so subject to redemption shall be redeemed on the sinking fund redemption date immediately preceding the terminal date at the principal amount thereof together with accrued interest to the redemption date.
