

I do hereby give O. L. McCaff the right to log off the timber on the south side of the highway, between the highway and the railroad tracks. It is understood that he knows where all the lines are.

O. L. McCaff agrees to pay for the stumpage by the thousand

Doble A Johnston
L. B. Johnston

