

from a point on the line of railway first hereinbefore described, at or near the Town of Paigle, in said State of Washington, and extending thence in a generally north-easterly direction to a point on the Coeur d'Alene Lake about five miles north of the mouth of the Coeur d'Alene River in said State of Idaho. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph commencing in the Town of Drilo, in the County of Shoshone, in the State of Idaho and extending thence, following the South Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River, to the Town of Mullan in the said State of Idaho. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph extending from the Town of Mullan, in the State of Idaho, in an easterly direction across the Bitter Root Mountain to Missoula, in the State of Montana. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph commencing at a point at or near the Town of Endicott, in the County of Whitman, in said State of Washington and extending thence in a northeasterly direction to the connection with the main line of the Railway of said Washington and Idaho Railroad Company, at or near the forks of Haugman Creek, about twelve miles north of Farmington, in the County of Whitman and State of Washington. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph commencing at a point at or near the junction of the North and South Forks of the Coeur d'Alene River, in the State of Idaho, and extending thence following the course of the North Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River and Pritchard Creek in a generally northeasterly direction to the town of Murray, in the State of Idaho. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph forming a branch of said last described line of railway commencing at a point on the said line at or near the mouth of Beaver Creek, and extending thence in a generally easterly direction, following the course of said Beaver Creek, to its source. And all that line of railway and line of telegraph commencing at a point at or near the junction of Nine Mile Creek with the South Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River, in the said State of Idaho and extending thence in a northerly direction, following the