Done Dec. 8. 1911

Gustave A. Nafel

Mary L. Nafel

And the said Gustave A. Nafel and his wife covenants and agrees to pay all taxes that now are, or may hereafter be imposed against said described premises and against this mortgage, and these presents shall be void if such payment are made. But in case I fail to make in the payment of said principal or interest, or in any part of either, as in said note provided, or in the payment of said taxes, then the said party of the second part, his executors, administrators or assigns, are hereby empowered to sell said premises, with all and every one of the appurtenances, or any part thereof, in the manner prescribed by law, and out of the money arising from said sale, to retain the whole of said principal and interest whether the same shall then be due or not, together with the costs and charges of selling such sale, including a reasonable sum as attorney fees, and the surplus, if any there be, shall be paid by the party making such sale, upon demand to the parties of the first part, their heirs and assigns. which is expressly agreed, the foregoing and said first parties hereby consent, that in case foreclosure and sale of said property (hereunder), there should any part remain unsatisfied, that deficiency judgment for such amount remaining unsatisfied may be entered against the parties of the first part.

The foregoing covenants being performed this conveyance shall be void; otherwise to be and remain in full force and effect.
