During the assessment year from date of discovery to Sept. 1, 1979 six (6) man days labor was performed on the claim. This consisted of excavating in a quartz vein and extracting material for analysis and assay. The labor was performed by Russell A. Niblock, Edward M. Fire, Mike Fire, and Stephen Fire. The locator, Russell A. Niblock, a professional engineer, made a compass and chain survey of the claim, referencing all corners. Survey time and back-packing of ore is not included in the 6 days labor reported.

Analysis of the ore excavated so far does not indicate an economic operation in the isolated location, however a U.S. Forest Service road will be constructed into the area within the next two ywars. It is intended to hold the claim for later further development.

With a labor estimate of $50.00 per man day $300.00 assessment work has been performed excluding travel time, survey time and back-packing out the ore.
