description of the claim or claims located by reference to some natural object or permanent monument which will identify the claim."

Sec. 35. "Placer claim, including all terms of deposit excepting veins and lodes, or other rock in place shall be subject to entry and recordation . . . upon similar proceedings as are provided for veins and lode claims . . . in each location shall include more than twenty acres for each individual claim."

Excerpts from Chapter 517, Oregon Revised Statutes Re: Location--Vein and Lode Claims

517.010. Location of mining claims upon veins or lodes. Any person, a citizen of the United States, or one who has declared his intention to become such, who discovers a vein or lode of mineral bearing rock in place upon the unappropriated public domain of the United States within that state, may locate a claim upon such vein or lode by posting thereon a notice of such discovery and location. The notice shall contain:

(a) The name of the lode or claim;

(b) The date of the location;

(c) The number of linear feet stamped along the vein or lode, such way from the point of discovery, with the width on each side of the line of vein;

(d) The general course or strike of the vein or lodes, nearly as may be, with reference to some natural object or permanent monument on the vicinity, and by defining the boundaries upon the surfaces of such claim so that the same may be readily traced;

(e) Such boundaries shall be marked within 30 days after posting of such notice by six substantial posts, projecting not less than three feet above the surface of the ground, and not less than four inches square or in diameter, or by substantial mounds of stone, or earth and stone, at least two feet in height, to within one inch, of each post or mound of rock at each corner and at the center ends of such claims;

517.020. Regarding copy of discovery notice: See, The locator shall, within 60 days from the posting of the location notices by him upon the lode or claim, file for record with the recorder of conveyances, if there is one, who shall be the custodian of mining records and miners' fees, otherwise with the clerk of the county where the claim is situated, a copy of the notice posted by him upon the lode or claim, and shall pay the recorder or clerk a fee of $1 for such record, which, on the recorder's or clerk's part immediately pay over to the treasurer of the county and shall take his receipt therefor, as in one of other county funds coming into the possession of such officer. The recorder or clerk shall immediately record the location notice.

517.030. Abandoned claims. Abandoned claims are unappropriated mineral lands, and titles thereto shall be obtained as specified in ORS 517.010 to 517.020, without reference to any work previously done thereon.

517.040. Correcting defective notice of location. If at any time an individual who has located a mining claim within the meaning of ORS 517.010 or 517.041, or his assigns, apprehends that the original notice of location of the mining claim was defective, erroneous, or that the requirements of the law had not been complied with before the filing of the notice, such locator or assignee may post and file for record in the manner now provided by law, an amended notice of the location which shall relate back to the date of the original location; provided, that the posting and filing of the amended notice of location shall not interfere with the existing rights of others at the time of posting the amended notice.

The following is a quotation from information furnished the publisher by the State of ~~WASH~~ Department of Geology and Mineral Industries.

Necessary steps in locating a vein or lode claim.

1. Post notice of location at point of discovery.
2. Stake claim within 30 days of date of discovery.
3. File copy of notice of location with county clerk or recorder for the county in which the claim is located. Filing fee is $1.00 per claim. Notice may be mailed in for recording. Notice should be recorded within 60 days from the posting or the notice on the claim.

Area and shape of a vein or lode claim.

A vein or lode claim can be not more than 300 feet in length and not extend not more than 300 feet on either side of the axis or lode line. A full sized vein or lode claim embraces an area of approximately 240 acres. Although most claims are rectangular they may have a variety of shapes, the only requirement being that the minerals must be exposed. In the case of non-rectangular claims it should be noted that the end-lines need not be limited to 300 feet in length (Fig. 1A).

Requirements of a vein or lode claim (Fig. 1A).

1. Location notice posted at or near point of discovery.
2. Four claim corner posts, or monuments, and two center end posts or monuments. All posts must be at least 4 inches square or in diameter and made of stone or rock or other durable materials. Monuments of stone or earth and stone must be at least 2 feet in height.

Vein or lode or placer location.

Vein or lode claims are located where minerals occur in place in vein or lode. Most metal mines are vein or lode locations.

Placer claims are located where minerals have been derived from rocks or veins to form deposits such as stream gravels and gold-bearing alluvium. Major deposits of nonmetallic minerals such as limestone, building stone, and pumice are generally located as placer claims.
