

Tony Gregor vs. James Campshell & wife

Notice is hereby given that I claim a lien on a certain box frame dwelling house, 18 by 24 feet in dimensions and one and a half stories high situated and being in Carron in Skamania County, Washington and about 200 feet south of what is called Carron Hall. That claimant commenced to work on said house in the construction thereof on the 28th December, 1903, and ceased working on the 29th December 1903, having worked two days on said house at wages of two dollars a day, and ninety days have not since closed; that James Campshell employed me to work on and in the construction of said house and agreed to pay me two dollars a day and said James Campshell & wife then were and now are the owners of said house - wherefore I claim and have a lien on said house for the sum of four dollars for and on account of said work on said house and the further sum of six dollars costs, charges & expenses incurred in preparing, filing and recording this lien. This lien and my said claim is assigned to Nicholas Gregorius.
