UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION)	PROJECT NO. 2348
OF PACIFICORP ELECTRIC OPERATIONS)
FOR A MAJOR LICENSE TO OPERATE THE)	MOTION TO INTERVENE CONDIT HYDROELECTRIC PROJECT IN) SKAMANIA AND KLICKITAT COUNTIES,) WASHINGTON.)

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
MOTION TO INTERVENE

For reasons stated below, the United States Department of the Interior (Department) hereby respectfully moves the Commission, pursuant to Commission Rule of Practice and Procedure (Rule) 214, 18 C.F.R. § 385.214, for leave to intervene in these proceedings. PacificCorp Electric Operations has filed an application for a new license to operate the Condit Hydroelectric Project No. 2348. The proposed hydroelectric project is located on the White Salmon River in Skamania and Klickitat Counties, Washington. The White Salmon River flows into the Columbia River.

The Department represents national public interests which the proposed project would directly affect and which would not otherwise be represented before the Commission. Further, a number of bureaus within the Department have responsibilities related to resources that would be affected by activities to be undertaken pursuant to the proposed license. Of those bureaus, the following have requested that the Department seek intervention: the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

1 - DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR'S MOTION TO INTERVENE

The interests and responsibilities of the Department, its anticipated position as intervenor (as known at this time), and the resulting grounds for its intervention are set forth below as a basis for a Commission order granting the Department's motion to intervene.

2 - DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR'S MOTION TO INTERVENE
CONDIT PROJECT NO. 2343

II. DESCRIPTION OF THE PROJECT

According to materials provided by the Applicant, the Condit hydroelectric project would consist of: (1) 125-foot-high concrete dam, approximately 471 feet long, at crest elevation 297.5 feet; (2) Northwestern Lake, a 665-acre-foot reservoir with a water surface of about 100 acres; (3) a 5,100-foot-long, 13.5-foot-diameter flow line connected to two 650-foot-long, 9-foot-diameter penstocks; and (4) a powerhouse containing two horizontal Francis-type turbines, having a combined rating of 9,000 horsepower. Each unit has a nameplate rating of 4.8 megawatts at 179 feet of head.

III. GROUNDS FOR INTERVENTION

Commission Rule 214 provides for intervention by a federal agency representing public interests which would be affected directly by the proposed project 18 C.F.R. § 385.214(b)(2)(i), (ii). In accordance with Rule 214, supra, a motion to intervene must state: (a) sufficient factual detail to establish that the movant's participation is in the public interest; and (b) the position taken by the movant and the basis in fact and in law for that position. The following statements provide compliance with these requirements.

A. PUBLIC INTEREST: INTERESTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of the Interior's interests in these proceedings are founded on a variety of statutory obligations and responsibilities and its trust responsibility to Indian tribes.

1 First, the potential impacts of the proposed project on 2 fish and wildlife resources trigger a host of statutory 3 responsibilities for the Department. The Fish and Wildlife
4 Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. §§ 661-666c, authorizes the Secretary
5 of the Interior to assist and cooperate with federal and private 6 agencies to assure that fish and wildlife conservation measures 7 receive "equal consideration" and are coordinated with other 8 features of water projects, beginning with their initial planning 9 stages. 16 U.S.C. § 661. Similarly, the Fish and Wildlife Act of 10 1956, 16 U.S.C. §§ 742a-742j-2, as amended, requires the Secretary
11 to determine the policies necessary and desirable to carry out fish 12 and wildlife laws efficiently and in the national public interest.
13 16 U.S.C. § 742f(a). With the Departmental staff, the Secretary is 14 directed to develop and recommend measures to assure a maximum 15 sustainable production of fish and to "take such steps as may be 16 required for the development, advancement, management, 17 conservation, and protection of fish and wildlife." 16 U.S.C. § 18 742f(a)(1), (4). Acting through the Fish and Wildlife Service and 19 other Departmental officials, the Secretary also has special responsibilities to protect various wildlife species under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, 16 U.S.C. §§ 703-12. Finally, under Section 10(j) of the Electric Consumers Protection Act of 1986, 16
U.S.C. § 803(j), the Commission is required to include license conditions as recommended by the Fish and Wildlife Service to protect, mitigate, and enhance fish and wildlife resources adversely affected by hydroelectric power projects.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR'S MOTION TO INTERVENE
CONDIT PROJECT NO. 2343

1 Further, the Secretary of the Interior through the Bureau
2 of Indian Affairs has been delegated the authority to manage "all 3 Indian affairs and ... all matters arising out of Indian 4 relations." 25 U.S.C. § 2. Pursuant to that authority and the 5 United States' trust responsibility to Indian tribes, the Secretary
6 of the Interior is responsible for fulfilling the United States' 7 fiduciary and statutory duties to protect the fishing rights of 8 Indian tribes as reserved by and secured to the tribes in treaties
9 with the United States. A number of Indian Tribes have treaty-10 protected fishing rights that may be affected by the proposed 11 Condit Hydroelectric Project. First, the Confederated Tribes and 12 Bands of the Yakima Indian Nation, have treaty-protected fishing 13 rights within the project area. Other Tribes whose treaty fishing
14 rights may be affected by the Project include: Confederated Tribes
15 of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Confederated Tribes of the Warm
16 Springs Reservation, and Nez Perce Tribe. The treaties of June 9, 17 1855, 12 Stat. 951; June 9, 1855, 12 Stat. 945; June 25, 1855, 12
18 Stat. 963; and June 11, 1855, 12 Stat. 957 secured to those Tribes, 19 respectively, the right in common with the citizens of the 20 territory to take fish in their respective usual and accustomed 21 areas. See United States v. Washington, 384 F. Supp. 312 (W.D.
22 Wash. 1974), and Sohappy v. Smith, 302 F. Supp. 899 (D. Or. 1969).
23 This includes the right to take fish in the Columbia River and its 24 tributaries.

25 The White Salmon River is within the usual and accustomed 26 fishing area of the Yakima Tribe. The White Salmon River also

1 provides recruitment stock to the reach of the Columbia River that 2 is subject to the treaty-reserved fishing rights of the Yakima, 3 Umatilla, Warm Springs and Nez Perce Tribes. The fishery and the 4 associated habitat that supports the fishery are, therefore,
5 subject to the trust responsibility of the United States
6 Government.

7 The Yakima Tribe may also have treaty-protected hunting and 8 gathering rights and cultural resource interests that may require 9 consideration and protection in the licensing process.

10 The authorities cited above constitute Congressional 11 statements of the national public interest in protection of fish, 12 wildlife, cultural, and other resources. They also indicate 13 Congressional intent that the Department represent those interests
14 which would be affected directly by the activities of the Applicant
15 under any license issued for its proposed project. The Department 16 is seeking to protect the fish, wildlife, cultural, and other 17 important natural resources in the proposed Condit Project area.
18 No other party or intervenor has such authority to represent those 19 particular national public interests.

20 Finally, intervention by the Department would assist the 21 Commission in fulfilling efficiently its consultation, 22 coordination, environmental assessment, and related 23 responsibilities. Those responsibilities are set forth in such 24 statutes as the Endangered Species Act, 16 U.S.C. § 1536(a); the 25 Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. § 662(a); the 26 National Environmental Policy Act, 42 U.S.C. § 4332(2)(C); and the

1 Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. Sections 4332(2).

2 B. ANTICIPATED POSITION OF THE DEPARTMENT

3 The Department has reviewed the proposed project in light
4 of its responsibilities and authorities pursuant to the above-cited 5 statutes and other relevant laws and regulations. Based on this 6 review, the position of the Department, as known at this time, is 7 described more fully below.

8 Pursuant to authority delegated to the Department, the 9 Department has reviewed the proposed action in relation to the fish
10 and wildlife resources in the Condit Hydroelectric Project area.
11 Based on this analysis, it has concluded that the project as 12 proposed could have serious adverse impacts on anadromous and 13 resident fish species, including chinook and coho salmon and 14 steelhead and resident rainbow trout; on wildlife species; on the 15 exercise of Indian treaty rights; and on Indian cultural resources.

16 The White Salmon River is tributary to the Columbia River.
17 The White Salmon River and its watershed provide high quality
18 habitat for fish and wildlife resources. Further, it is the Fish 19 and Wildlife Service's goal to restore anadromous fish runs to 20 their former habitat and their former abundance above Condit Dam, 21 to correct existing physical and operational problems affecting 22 fish and wildlife resources, to restore and rehabilitate degraded 23 spawning and rearing habitat downstream from Condit Dam, and to 24 mitigate the loss of wildlife habitat values resulting from the 25 development and operation of project facilities. The Service's 26 goals are consistent with the Northwest Power Planning Council's

27 7 - DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR'S MOTION TO INTERVENE
28 CONDIT PROJECT NO. 2343

1 Columbia River Fish and Wildlife program which calls for dam
2 passage at Condit Dam.

3 The Department has reviewed the license application and is 4 concerned about the many project-related impacts to anadromous and 5 resident fish species and wildlife species that have not been 6 adequately addressed by the Applicant. During the course of this 7 proceeding, the Department would seek to assure that project 8 impacts on fish and wildlife resources were identified. The 9 Department would recommend measures which would avoid adverse 10 effects upon fish and wildlife resources and which would mitigate 11 for unavoidable adverse effects.

12 In addition, the United States has trust responsibilities for 13 the reserved property interests of the Yakima and other Indian 14 Tribes, as described above. The Department is concerned about the 15 many project-related impacts on fish, wildlife, plant, and cultural 16 resources that have not been considered during the term of the past
17 license, a situation that must be resolved during the Condit 18 hydroelectric project relicensing proceeding. During the course of 19 the proceeding, the Department would seek to assure that Indian 20 cultural resources and Indian trust rights and resources, including 21 those associated with treaty-protected fishing, hunting, and 22 gathering rights, are identified, considered, and protected.

23 VI. REQUEST FOR RELIEF

24 Accordingly, for the reasons stated above, the Department of 25 the Interior moves the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to 26 issue an order granting the Department's motion to intervene in 1 this proceeding.
